

Call for Papers

Seventh Annual Cervantes Symposium

The Newberry Library
Center for Renaissance Studies

60 West Walton Street
Chicago, Illinois 60610

---

Saturday, April 28, 2007

Keynote Speaker:

Jacques Lezra, University of Wisconsin—Madison

“The Disciplining of Don Quijote and the Discipline of Literary Studies”

The topic for the 2007 symposium is open, but papers related to the keynote address are particularly welcome. Papers should be no longer than 20 minutes in length and can be delivered in either English or Spanish.

Proposals must be received by February 2, 2007.
Submissions can be sent via regular mail or email to:

Bruce R. Burningham
Languages, Literatures, and Cultures
Campus Box 4300
Illinois State University
Normal IL 61790-4300
(309) 438-7975
burningham@ilstu.edu

For more information, please see the official symposium web page:
<http://www.newberry.org/renaissance/seminars/cervantes07.html>

Sponsored by the Instituto Cervantes de Chicago, the University of Chicago, DePaul University, Miami University, and Illinois State University.