

MULTIMEDIA JOURNALISM/VISUAL COMMUNICATION THE GAYLORD COLLEGE OF JOURNALISM AND MASS COMMUNICATION

The Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication at the University of Oklahoma seeks to hire a tenure-track assistant professor in multimedia journalism/visual communication.

The College seeks a developing scholar who is experienced in multimedia journalism, photojournalism and/or visual communication. We are looking for an individual to teach in at least one of the following areas: (1) new media, (2) visual communication and (3) photojournalism. The ideal candidate will also have the background and interest to teach history of the U.S. media/journalism.

A master's degree and significant professional experience required; Ph.D. or experience with a major national media outlet preferred.

Women and men of ethnically diverse backgrounds, including, but not limited to, African-Americans, Asian-Americans, Latinos, and Native Americans, are particularly urged to apply. The university welcomes the creativity and unique contributions which diversity offers to students preparing to work in a diverse society.

The Gaylord College of Journalism and Mass Communication was founded in 2000, after a generous gift from the family of Edward L. Gaylord, owner of the Oklahoma Publishing Company. The Gaylord College is becoming one of the leading centers of mass communication teaching and scholarship in the United States. The size of the faculty is expanding and the College has recently relocated to a new, state-of-the-art facility, Gaylord Hall, and began construction of a new wing in 2007. New faculty will take an active part in this growth through superior teaching, innovative curriculum development, and notable research or creative activity. The College offers the BA, MA, and Ph.D. in journalism, advertising and public relations, and media arts and a master's (MPW) degree in professional writing.

The University of Oklahoma is located in Norman, a dynamic and growing part of the Oklahoma City media market. Norman has a diverse population with numerous artistic and cultural opportunities, a variety of restaurants and recreational activities, reasonable housing, and an excellent public school system.

Applications for the search will be reviewed beginning November 1, 2008, and will be accepted until all positions are filled. Applicants should provide 1) a letter describing their teaching and professional experience and their areas of research interest, 2) a complete curriculum vitae, and 3) names, addresses, and telephone numbers of at least three references. Applications should be sent to:
