

The Do You Know? Project African Americans, HIV/AIDS and Social Media

If you are African American, 18 years or older we invite you to participate in a research study to examine the effective reach of social media in distributing important health information. Do You Know? is a dramatic visual production about the behavior of several college students and the potential spread of HIV/AIDS. The production contains mild sexual content and profanity.

If you are interested in participating first watch the 30 minute visual dramatic production Do You Know? by clicking on the icons below. Next go to the survey and answer the questions. The survey should take no longer than 10 minutes, then submit it.

If you want to watch the Do You Know? Video.
